Microburst credited with causing storm damage last Wednesday

by Linda Hodge, Editor

Just shy of 8 a.m. Wednesday, March 4, portions of the downtown area of Elba experienced a scary weather moment as a microburst caused damage to several stores. The same storm, several minutes later, caused more damage in New Brockton.

According to the National Weather Service (NWS), a microburst is a localized column of sinking air (downdraft) within a thunderstorm, usually less than or equal to 2.5 miles in diameter. Microbursts can cause extensive damage at the surface, and in some cases be life-threatening.

According to NWS experts, wind speeds in microbursts can reach up to 100 miles per hour, or even higher, which is equivalent to an EF-1 tornado.

Tommy Vaughan Shaw, a downtown Elba resident, said he could hear it when it came down. The storm blew several shingles from the roof of Shaw's home.

"It was the weirdest experience," he said. "The pressure dropped, and it happened so fast and quickly."

Shaw said he headed for safety in his closet when he realized what was happening, but it happened so fast that he barely got to the closet before it was over.

Several businesses on the square in downtown Elba, specifically along Davis Street, suffered roof damage and a window front was blown out as well. The camera system at the Coffee County Courthouse captured the exact moment the microburst blew the roof off of the Williams Auto Parts store.

Jason Williams, owner of the auto parts store, said the result of the storm was not only damage to the roof of his building, but a great deal of his merchandise was water-damaged because of the rain coming into the store after the roof was damaged.

By Thursday, Williams

had a temporary tarp placed over the roof at Williams Auto to help prevent further damage as he awaited a visit from the insurance adjuster to get a better idea of the damage costs before repair.

He said he was very grateful none of his employees were injured in the incident and said he was super proud of everything the employees did to keep further damage from occurring after the storm passed.

Jeff Mauldin, an employee of Williams Auto, said he was in the back of the store when the storm hit. He said it was over almost as quickly as it began.

"It felt like the walls were shaking," Mauldin said. "I headed for a safe spot, but it was over before I could even get there."

Only moments later, the employees knew there was definitely a last problem as first one, then two leaks started from the roof, and before they knew it, Mauldin said it was 'raining' on them all over the store.

Just down the street, Wayne and Betty Lawford, explained a similar circumstance as the roof of their hardware store [and former Radio Shack store next door] also were damaged.

"I picked the roof up and sat it back down," Wayne said. "We were fortunate no one was injured."

ROOFS WERE NO MATCH FOR THE MICROBURST that hit downtown Elba last Wednesday morning, March 4. As this photo shows, the wind from the storm rolled the roof up and off the Lawford's Hardware and old Radio Shack buildings on the square. The storm also blew the roof off the Williams Auto Parts building.

Elba's FEMA buyout project continuing to move forward

by Linda Hodge, Editor

During the Elba City Council meeting held Monday evening, March 9, assistant city clerk Pat Boothe updated council members on the status of the FEMA flood buyout project.

Boothe said the first 15 homeowners had been contacted [or attempted contact had been made]. She said 13 homeowners had been interviewed and three had opted out of the buyout. She said the city had been unable to locate two homeowners.

However, Boothe said 10 of the first 15 had been turned over to attorney Bart Boothe for him to begin the title search process for those homes to move forward with the buyout.

Boothe said after the first 15 have been settled, she feels the process will begin to move more quickly as the program continues to make contact with homeowners in the program. This will continue to be handled in batches of 15 at the time.

Related to the FEMA project, council members approved a resolution Monday night to hire Jerry B. Dell for professional services as a certified real estate appraiser for the Elba FEMA HMGP Project #4251-0061 in association with voluntary acquisition / demolition of floodprone structures.

The council amended the resolution before approving it to include in it that the mayor had authority to negotiate and enter into agreement with Bell for the services on each qualified structure in an amount up to $385 per property.

The resolution, as

THE NEW BROCKTON YOUTH SPORTS COMPLEX also was victim to the storm and winds last Wednesday morning, March 4th. This photo shows where a portion of one of the dugouts at the complex was ripped off. The high winds also turned a set of bleacher over and smashed them into the fence of the field near home plate.

Four retirements approved by Coffee County BOE during monthly meeting

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The Coffee County Board of Education held its regular monthly meeting Thursday evening, March 5, and the personnel matters recommended by superintendent Kevin Killingsworth were done so with a 'heavy heart' because of one of the retirements on the list.

Killingsworth explained that Donna Hataway, the superintendent's secretary, had submitted her retirement letter, effective June 30, 2020.

"It is very sad for me to say, but after 41 years, Mrs. Donna is going to be retiring," Killingsworth said. "She is a wealth of knowledge, especially for me. She is just a phenomenal person, and I am going to miss her greatly."

Board members approved Hataway's retirement but concurred with having heavy hearts over the matter.

Other personnel matters recommended by Killingsworth and approved by the board included three additional resignations due to retirement.

Kenneth Senn, a teacher at Zion Chapel, will retire June 1, 2020 as will Annette Presley, at teacher at Kingston School. Cindy Lowery, child nutrition manager at Kingston will retire on May 22, 2020.

Coffee County Commission appoints three to SARCOA board

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The Coffee County Commission meeting did not last long Monday morning, March 9, as commissioners zoomed through the meeting's agenda.

County administrator Rod Morgan was not at the meeting, but commission chairman Dean Smith said he had one item to present to commissioners on behalf of Morgan. He said SARCOA [Southeast Alabama Regional Council on Aging] is restructuring its board, and each county would be represented by three persons rather than five with the new structure.

It was recommended commissioners appoint Kim Ellis, Bill Cooper, and Margaret Calhoun to represent Coffee County on the SARCOA board. Smith said each already serves and had indicated he/she would be willing to continue to serve.

The motion passed with no opposition.

Upon recommendation of county engineer Marty Lentz, commissioner approved a resolution to execute a Federal Aid Exchange Fund agreement via the Rebuild Alabama

Act to allow the county to receive its $400,000 allocation of these funds from the Alabama Department of Education. This motion passed with no opposition.

Coffee County E911 coordinator Dean Blair told commissioners the new CAD (Computer Aided Dispatch) system at the Elba Police Department was up and running. He said this transition had gone as smoothly as anyone could have anticipated thus far.

Also during the meeting, Coffee County extension

"I like long walks, especially when they are taken by people who annoy me." — Noel Coward

The special report on Trump, the Russians and other tidbits is back in the news as a federal judge has stepped up and ordered the Executive Branch of the U. S. Government to turn over to him the unedited Mueller report. He cited several thoughts that could be very damaging to the Justice Department AND to President Trump. The judge said Attorney General Barr's report on the report was "Distorted" and "Misleading". Frankly we don't expect any additional facts will destroy Donald Trump's re-election chances. He has such a large dedicated following of true believers and others disgusted with government that his 'wrongs' are just false news being spread by his enemies.

A loyal reader stopped in the office this week asking about the vote totals in the Presidential primary. It took us a few minutes to get the actual totals, but Trump won with some 96.2% of the vote. Trump's unofficial totals were 695,469 while Bill Weld got 1.5% or 10,962 votes. We don't know anything about the person who ran against the president but hope for his sake that he had no real illusions of beating "The Donald".

The Coronavirus continues to dominate the world as more and more cases are reported. Several comments have struck us as "well said." One is a research guy being asked what can a person do? His answer was "Wash your hands D--- it." Now your mother told you that and if you don't listen to her, this guy can just go fishing because he surely will be ignored. One other comment that stuck with us was another expert who opined that "Wide-spread panic could be worse than the actual Coronavirus virus." However, he needs to remember that we don't have to be a hypochondriac to worry about the unknowns surrounding this virus. As far as a vaccine or cure, all of the dozens of groups racing to find a cure or preventive measures say we are at least a year away from an effective vaccine for COVID-19. While reading the long list of disinfectants the government is recommending for preventing Coronavirus, we saw one brand we recognized . . . Clorox. Most of the other brands appear to cater to medical folks, etc., and are not on the local store shelves.

Conspiracy theorists are working overtime on this virus. The variety of theories is widespread and those spreading them continue to ignore the experts who are debunking their ideas with facts. This is another example of a rumor spreading around the world while the truth is putting on its boots. We think some of the 'cures' we have seen on social media sites were first put there as a joke and others swallowed the tale hook, line and sinker.

This virus will probably hit more citizens worldwide . . . and yes in the U. S. before it subsides so we urge our readers not to put on the tough act, but take the precautions being recommended to heart. It is not only your life this protects, but also your friends and family who could get this virus from you if you are infected.

Betty described how the doors blew open and she struggled to get them closed. She said it was a very scary moment.

Lawford said his vacant building next door [the old Radio Shack store] would most likely have to be gutted and renovated completely before it would be rentable again due to the roof damage and other damages caused by a window that was blown out of the storefront during the storm.

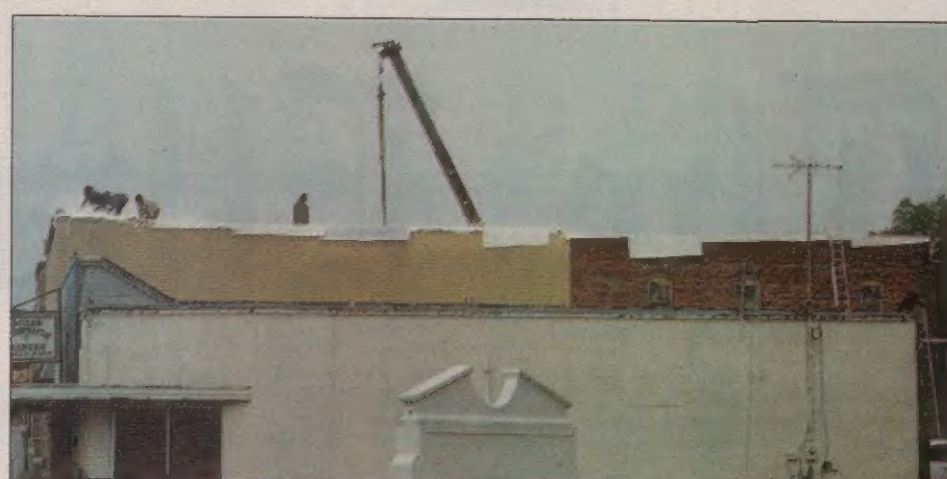

As the storm continued to move across the county, shortly after 8 a.m., the New Brockton Youth Sports Complex became victim to the high winds as well. Damage at this complex included a portion of the roof of a dugout being blown off, a set of bleachers overturned and pushed into the fence of the field, and a batting cage was knocked down completely.

While the microburst storm was credited with quite a bit of property damage last Wednesday morning, no personal injuries were reported as a result of the storm.

Some other places reporting minor damage in Elba included Mr. Henry's, First Baptist Church, and the Coffee County Courthouse, according to Pat Boothe, assistant city clerk for the City of Elba. She said there also were some trees and powerlines knocked down as a result of the storm.

It was a wet mess at Williams Auto Parts for most of Wednesday, March 4, after a microburst from a thunderstorm ripped the roof off the building. Only moments after the scary event, it began raining in the store and employees rushed to cover merchandise with tarps to prevent any further damage. The scene was pretty much the same just down the road at Lawford's Hardware as that building suffered extensive roof damage as well from the storm.

The storm damage to the Williams Auto Parts building roof last Wednesday was very significant, but work began Thursday to get a temporary fix in place until the roof can be replaced.

Left: Williams Auto Parts employee Jeff Mauldin worked from underneath a tarp shield Wednesday after the storm ripped the roof from the building thus allowing it to rain in on the business. When it began raining inside the store due to the damage, employees hurried to get tarps over computers, merchandise, etc. to prevent further damage.

This photo shows how the winds from last Wednesday's storm overturned a set of bleachers at the New Brockton Youth Sports Complex. The wind threw the bleachers into the ballfield fence causing additional damages.

Editor's Note: Cuzin Lou Lou's column is meant for entertaining purposes only as she shares her stories.

Cuzin Lou Lou yields her comments this week to some good advice coming for the folks over at Auburn University... Lou Lou encourages all to take this advice to heart and WASH YOUR HANDS!

The information from Auburn reads as follows:

Prepare for battle. Handwashing is the first line of defense in avoiding illnesses. With the coronavirus (COVID-19), the respiratory disease first identified in China, making its way into national headlines, handwashing is now even more important.

Effective Techniques.

Because viral illnesses like COVID-19 and the flu can be spread through touch, proper hand washing can reduce their spread. To be most effective, handwashing must include some important steps.

Wet hands with clean, running warm water and apply soap. Lather hands by rubbing them together with the soap. Lather the backs of hands, between fingers and under nails. Scrub hands for at least 20 seconds. Hum the "Happy Birthday" song from beginning to end twice for an easy way to time.

Rinse hands well under clean, running warm water.

Dry hands using a clean towel or air dry them. (Note: Air drying means using a warm or room temperature blow dryer.)

When to Wash

People should wash their hands frequently. If you wonder should I wash my hands now, the answer is always yes.

Before, during and after preparing food

Before eating food

Before and after caring for someone at home who is sick with vomiting or diarrhea

Before and after treating a cut or wound

After using the toilet

After changing diapers or cleaning up a child who has used the toilet

After blowing your nose, coughing, or sneezing

After touching an animal, animal feed, or animal waste

After handling pet food or pet treats

After touching garbage

Until next time... Lou Lou says again Wash Your Hands!

Killingworth noted the school system would be losing many years of experience with all these retirements, and each would be missed greatly. But, he wished them all well in their retirement.

The board approved the low bid for the electric portion of the Zion Chapel Stadium lighting project. This bid was for $79,722.

Board members also approved the 2020-2021 school calendar for the Coffee County School System; approved the state's entire list for physical education and health textbooks as recommended by the textbook committee, along with the off list Glencoe health textbook; and voted to give the superintendent permission to bid the Zion Chapel gymnasium project off the capital projects list.

The board held a short executive session to discuss good name and character, according to board attorney Dale Marsh. After returning to the open meeting, board chairman Brian McLeod said no action would be taken at that time.

The next regular meeting for the County Board of Education is set for Thursday, April 9, at 5:30 p.m.; however, the superintendent said there might be a need to have a called meeting prior to that date.

Boothe also reported to council members Monday night that code enforcement officer Bryson Dear had passed a class on asbestos inspection, which would now qualify him to inspect properties for asbestos. She added that street department employee Jeremy Heath had attended and passed an asbestos abatement school, which would qualify him to be able to tear down structures with asbestos.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

The United States will undertake a census to determine how many people live in this country. It happens every ten years, and the results of the census will touch every facet of our life.

Quite simply, programs funded by federal dollars are often allocated by population. From 2010-2019, Alabama received $13 billion in federal funds. Every Alabamian counted in the 2010 Census brought $16,000 back to Alabama in the form of federal programs like: school lunches, Pell grants, SNAP-Ed, educational programs and grants, senior programs, head start, and roads and bridges.

In addition, census data is also used to determine how many seats Alabama has in the U.S. House of Representatives. If Alabamians participate at the same level as we did in 2010, the state is at serious risk of losing one - maybe two - representatives. It is critical for people living in Alabama to take the census and be counted! Starting March 12th everyone in the U.S. will be able to complete the census. The census is easy and should only take about 10 minutes to complete. You can take the census online, by phone, or by mailing in the form you receive. The U.S. Census Bureau will mail you an initial invitation to complete the census along with reminders. After a few reminders, U.S. Census Bureau representatives will go door to door to help people take the census. Remember, you will not be asked to provide your social security number, your citizenship status, or any income information on the census form. The information you provide will help the Census Bureau understand the demographics of your community to help federal, state, and local leaders plan and allocate resources for the future. The information you provide is secure and is required by law to be kept confidential by the U.S. Census Bureau for 72 years.

Your County Extension Office has a computer available to take the census if you would like to complete it online. Alabama Extension will also be promoting the census at various locations in your community as well. If you have any questions about the census, visit census.gov or call your County Extension Office. Federal funding for state over the next 10 years will be shaped in large part by how many of people are counted in this census. Please take the census and be counted. Your participation is critical to ensuring the brightest future possible for our communities, county, and state.

Respectfully,
Gavin Mauldin

Our Family Serving Your Family Since 1934

Requesting Military Honors for a Deceased Veteran:
Determining Eligibility

It is a beautiful thing—the ability to truly honor a veteran who has served his/her country upon the event of passing. The rendering of military funeral honors for a deceased veteran is a service mandated by law and provided free of charge to the eligible veteran's family.

In Alabama and elsewhere, military funeral honors can be requested by a family through their funeral director. From there, the funeral director will contact the appropriate military branch to arrange the funeral honors detail. Of course, a family of a deceased veteran must first ensure their loved one is eligible. In order to receive military honors, the deceased must be a member of one of the following: A military member on active duty or in the Selected Reserve; former military members who served on active duty and departed under conditions other than dishonorable; former military members who completed at least one term of enlistment or period of initial obligated service in the Selected Reserve and departed under conditions other than dishonorable; and former military member discharged from the Selected Reserve due to a disability incurred or aggravated in the line of duty.

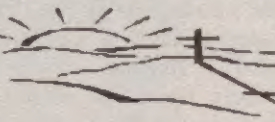

In order to verify eligibility for military honors, a family is required to fill out DD Form 214, Certificate of Release or Discharge from Active Duty. This form is available online through the National Archives. However, if the form is not available, any discharge document showing anything other than dishonorable service can be used to begin the process.

CHURCH NEWS

Pastor's Corner

by Tonia Lewis, Benevolence Counselor
CHRISTIAN MISSION CENTERS INC

This week we will lace our thread through the Old Testament story of Rahab and pull it through into the New Testament.

Rahab is another one of many heroes. . . well, heroines. . . of the Old Testament. The name, Rahab, means "large." To call a woman large would be quite an insult. But maybe her name isn't referring to her size but rather to the enormity of her actions.

After God's people were freed from captivity in Egypt, Joshua was given the privilege of escorting them into the land God had promised to them. The only problem was this Promised Land was currently occupied by others. As with any occupied land, the residents weren't going to willingly give it up for strangers to move in. That meant the Israelites (God's people) had to seize the land.

Joshua sent two spies into this promised land, called Jericho, to scope it out and determine the best way to take it. This job was dangerous. If the spies had been caught, they would have been killed.

Rahab was not an Israelite, but a citizen of Jericho. She was actually a prostitute who owned an inn (aka: possible brothel) embedded in the wall that surrounded the city. Rahab had heard of the Israelites and how God had done many great works among them. So, when the spies came to her looking for a place to stay, she agreed.

The king of Jericho, hearing of Joshua's plan, began an intense search for the spies. When the soldiers knocked on Rahab's inn door, she protected the spies by telling the soldiers they had been there and couldn't have gone far. The soldiers moved on in their search.

I guess she didn't really lie. They had been there and they weren't far. They were on her rooftop. She then helped the spies to escape through an exterior window of her inn that was located on the outer wall of the city. In return, the spies promised to save her and her family when the attack to seize the land was made. And they did.

Rahab's role in God's plan of the Israelites gaining their promised land was definitely large. Her protection of God's servants was huge! Without a protector, the fate of the spies was death.

Don't you just love that God provided a protector of His people? Just amazing! Weave that needle and thread through to the New Testament. God has done the same for you and I.

He provided His Son, Jesus, to protect us from eternal death. Without Jesus, our fate is the same as the two spies. . . death. Yet, God says that those who believe in His Son and what He has done will have eternal life. Our souls will live eternally in our Promised Land . . . Heaven.

Rahab's story proclaims two facts. First, God will use anybody, even the most unlikely, to ensure His promise is fulfilled. Secondly, Jesus is our new and better Rahab. He is our protector. He has protected us from eternal death and has promised us a land of eternal life with Him in Heaven.

Have you accepted His gift of eternal life in His Promised Land? Jesus is our new and better Rahab. He provides!

Coffee County's Larry Reeves recently elected president of Alabama Cattlemen's Association

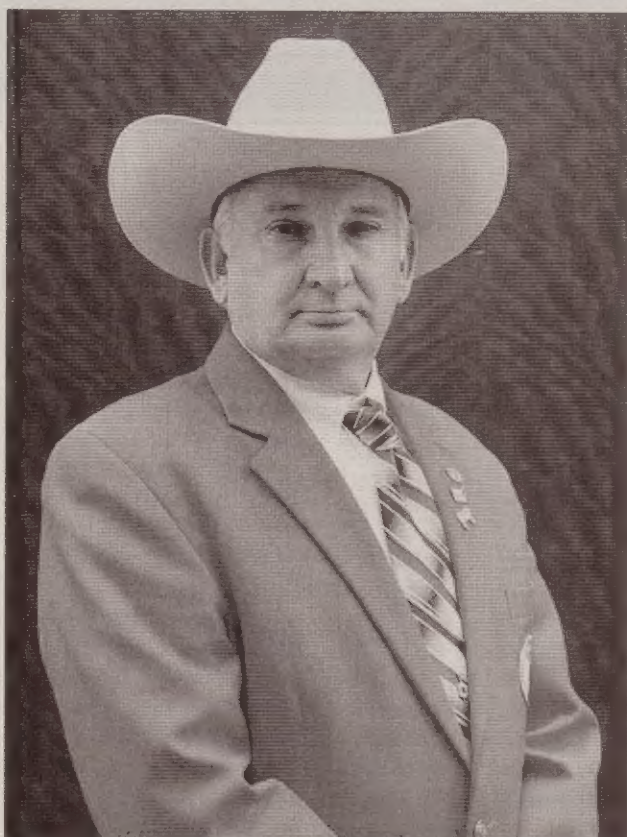

Larry Reeves of the Basin community was elected the 76th president of the Alabama Cattlemen's Association at the organization's annual convention held Feb. 14-15 at the Montgomery Convention Center.

Over the course of 40 years, Reeves has worked to build his diversified operation which has farmed cattle, poultry, peanuts, corn and other silage grasses. He is the former president of Advanced Genetic Resource, a fertility clinic for cattle, and at one time partnered with ACA Past President Max Bozeman to host the Beef Cattle Improvement Association (BCIA) Bull Test and sale on his farm each year.

Larry and his wife of 40 years, Cindy, have one daughter, Amanda (20), who grew up actively involved on the farm.

"We've done this together. It's a family operation," he said. "We just love the farm life."

The Coffee Countian's hard work and passion for agriculture are reflected in his industry awards and acknowledgements such as 2005 Farm City Livestock Production Award, Coffee County Cattlemen's Association Dedicated Service Award, BCIA Dedication Award, BCIA Forage Evaluation Award, the J.R. Speed Award for lifetime achievement and the 1996 Alabama Two-Ton Peanut Club Award.

Larry Reeves

Through the years, Reeves has poured back into the industry that raised him by serving on FFA advisory committees, serving his local 4-H, and being a leader in the Coffee County Cattlemen's Association. Following natural progression, after he had been a member for several years, he became a board member in his home county. His leadership on the board flagged him for a role on the officer team where he grew from vice president to president.

His success as an "Over the Top" county and his

"yes man" character made him a prime candidate for the role as regional vice president for which he accepted in 2015. After serving his three years faithfully as an RVP, Larry was tapped for the seat as state vice president.

Now he's ready to serve the members of the Alabama Cattlemen's Association as 2020 president.

"I hope we can build our numbers," he said. "And with all the negative we've got about fake meat and upcoming issues; I want us to hit it head-on and don't stand back and look."

The students at the Elba Elementary School celebrated 'Dr. Seuss' week last week and it was fun to watch our grandson Lawson do his best to join the celebration as he wore funny socks, dressed up as his favorite character and even wore unique clothes on the different days of the week. He loves to take part in all school events, and last week was one of my favorites.

For what it is worth....

 The Elba Tigers are off and running on the baseball diamond and last week posted dominating wins over Samson, Zion Chapel and Florala to improve their record to 5-2 on the young season. The Tigers used dominating pitching with as aggressive mentality at the plate to post four lopsided wins over quality opponents, and all of the sudden it looks like the Tigers may be a team to keep an eye on in the 1A ranks. There is a lot of season left to go, but right now the Elba Tigers are taking names and paying folks back for years of struggles.

 The Elba Lady Tigers finally got to play a few softball games last week, and even though they have yet to claim a win, they have begun to settle in and before long will log many wins and become a team to reckon with. The Lady Tigers softball program had turned into a winning program over the past two seasons, and while they did lose several starters, no one expected the slow start. Maybe when their cleats dry out from all the rain things will turn back around.

 It was an active week on the baseball and softball fields all across the area with the biggest news coming in softball, where the Brantley Lady Bulldogs are off to another fast start and last weekend claimed five straight wins to win a very strong tournament over in Wicksburg. The Lady Bulldogs aren't blowing folks out like in years past, but they still have good pitching, play solid defense and can hit the softball, and have made it clear they are on the prowl for another state title! Kinston and New Brockton are also off to fast starts and will no doubt be teams to beat throughout the season and on into the post-season, while Zion Chapel has struggled a bit in early-season action, but has the talent and the coaching to get back on track and post its share of wins along the way. Over on the baseball diamond, Brantley is just as good as ever and is definitely a 'Top 10' team regardless of classification, while Kinston is coming on strong after an early-season loss and is an area contender; New Brockton is off to somewhat of a slow start, but is way too talented not to win more than its share of games; and, Zion Chapel has been up and down so far, but also has the talent to win its share of games. It looks like a fun season ahead for all the area schools, and their fans.

 In closing.... the NCAA tournament is just around the corner and it should be a wide open affair since no team has really taken charge in the polls and been dominate night in and night out. Maybe Auburn will get hot and make a run like a year ago, but the Tigers have been inconsistent and with Kentucky struggling on most nights to get a win it may not be that good a tournament for SEC fans. I will watch as many games as possible and if the SEC doesn't dominate I guess I'll pull for Kansas or Duke.

In area doubleheader

Tigers flatten Florala 18-0, 17-0

The Elba Tigers traveled to Florala Friday afternoon to open area play and made the most of their trip as they flattened the Florala Wildcats 18-0 and 17-0 to sweep the twinbill and improve their record to 5-2.

Elba left the bases loaded in the fifth, but combined six hits with four walks in the sixth to plate eight runs to stretch its lead to 17-0.

Consecutive singles by Paxton Wise, Peyton McCart and Collin Sauls sparked the sixth inning outburst, while Iverson Lane and Blake Swan added rbi singles as the Tigers ran away with the game, and the doubleheader sweep with the 17-0 win.
